Director
National Institute of Siddha &
Director General (Addl. Charge)
Central Council for Research in Siddha

Vanakkam!!

Dear Applicants,

A very good morning and warm welcome to the Siddha family. I am very much elated to note that you have decided to enter into a new realm in your life by taking a positive stride in choosing your career as a Siddha Physician. I wholeheartedly welcome you to the Siddha Fraternity. 'Siddha' system of medicine is an ancient system of medicine that has been developed by the sages called 'Siddhars'. The Word 'Siddha' has evolved from 'Siddhi', which means achievement. The medicines and methods of treatment being followed in the Siddha system has been evolved through the studies, research and observations of a number Siddhars and traditional physicians carried out for centuries together. These sages have developed a system of medicine aligned with nature which uses naturally available herbs, shrubs, pashanams and other substances that are not harmful for living beings. This system of medicine is the gift of the Dravidian culture to the world. The prime duty of a Siddha physician is to uplift the physical, mental and spiritual well being of man by enabling him to unite with the Supreme Being, 'God'. In the modern era also this system of medicine has proved its relevance and efficacy in preventing and controlling many communicable and contagious diseases. Even during the Covid-19 Pandemic the medicines like 'Kabasura Kudineer' available in this branch of medicine has proved to be life saving to a number of patients.

The National Institute of Siddha is an organization set up by the Ministry of Ayush for encouraging studies and research in the Siddha system of medicine. This is a unique organization which provides opportunities for aspiring students to develop their knowledge and carry out research in the Siddha system of medicine. The Institute is presently conducting M.D Siddha Programmes in 8 Specialties and Research in 6 Specialties. The new Bachelor of Siddha Medicine and Surgery (BSMS) programme, to commence during the 2022-23 Academic Year, will be a new initiative to provide avenues to the students to get quality education and training in the Siddha system of Medicine. It will also equip them to join the Post-Graduate programmes conducted by this Institute and elsewhere.

I hope that you will be utilizing this great opportunity to carve a new pathway in your life in the most befitting manner. All the best.

1. Introduction

Medicine is the one that cures physical ailments
Medicine is the one that cures psychological ailments
Medicine is the one that prevents diseases
Medicine is the one that bestows immortality

-Thirumoolar

The Siddha system of medicine has evolved with the civilizations of Mohenjadaró and Harappa in the Indus valley around 10,000 years ago. This is a contribution of the Dravidian culture, which is one of the oldest cultures, to the world. This system is said to have developed mainly by 18 Siddhars out of which the great Sage Agasthiyar is considered as the Father of Siddha Medicine. Thirumoolar, the first disciple of Agasthiyar, is believed to have taken lifetime efforts for nurturing the growth and development of the Siddha system of medicine. This system is following unique methods in preventing, treating, and restoring the health of patients. The Siddha system of medicine relies on the concepts of moral principles such as Naalozhukkam and moral guidance such as Pini Anugavidhi which is extremely relevant to our current health care system to prevent people from various life-threatening Communicable and Non-Communicable diseases. During the Covid-19 Pandemic the Siddha system of medicine was able to save the lives a number of acute, moderate and mild Covid patients through the timely application of preventive and curative medicines available in the system. The basic principle of this system is “Unave Marunthu, Marunthe Unavu”, means “Food is Medicine and Medicine is Food”.
